Connect your feedback form

Create the form once, connect it in Settings and review responses online. No email-sending credentials are needed in PDF Studio.

01 Create a form

Open forms.office.com with your work account. Select New form, title it PDF Studio feedback, and describe its purpose.

02 Add the score

Add a required Rating: How would you rate PDF Studio? Use 5 levels with stars. Subtitle: 1 = Poor / 5 = Excellent.

03 Add written feedback

Add a required Text: What would you like to share? Turn on Long answer.

04 Add the feature

Add an optional Choice: Which feature did you use? Options: Read, Organize, Edit / Fill, Tools, Other. Choose a dropdown if preferred.

05 Choose style and audience

Use a teal style. In Collect responses, choose Anyone can respond for responses inside the app, when company policy permits. Company-only forms may require the browser sign-in fallback.

06 Connect PDF Studio

Copy the response link, or the URL in the Embed code. In PDF Studio, open Settings > Feedback > Form connection, paste the URL and choose Save form link. Use a response link, not an editing link.

07 Verify collection

Open Feedback and submit one test response. Check the form's Responses tab and Open in Excel. Keep response access limited to the people reviewing feedback.

If company sign-in does not load

Choose Open in browser in the panel. Your PDF stays open. Closing and reopening the panel preserves its current form; reloading it or quitting the app may clear unsubmitted answers.

Microsoft's setup reference

Send a form to get responses - Microsoft Support